

This benching system was designed for the person who might be in the office just once or twice a week, or a group that wants to see and be seen. Personal bookshelves make a quick, easy storage solution, and large worksurface areas support oversized papers or presentation materials.

